Online Contact Manager

I have written a web based online contact manager application for my associates to register themselves in my address book. It is a PHP script that saves its results to a database. I then download the online data and import into excel or access or outlook at my option. Right now it is Alpha Ware but I can expand the form. It runs in SSL because I started out to write a shopping cart and decided to keep it simple. Would something like this help members keep up with address changes for membership for local organizations? Address changes could be submitted online for large groups to keep the membership list current.. If you know me or want to get in touch with me, give it a try. ONLINE CONTACT MANAGER Stephanie
